Subject: Reference proposed pollution rules

Hello: my name is George Brown and I live in Kent County Delaware. I am glad that Delaware citizens were given an opportunity to weigh-in on the proposed regulations and give input. One thing that came to mind when I read the information was that there is a huge influx of traffic going to Sussex county Delaware from many other surrounding states (beach traffic). I don't think the population of citizens living in Sussex is as great as the other two counties in our State. But I believe the population swells during the summer months. We can't avoid being a corridor State and we can't do away with the beach traffic. My question is will changing the law make a difference and are Delaware citizens going to have to pay for a problem caused by another source? Thank you for the opportunity to have input.
