I was not able to attend the meeting in Dover so here is my comment.

It is high time that the State of Delaware adhere with the federal regulation and while we cannot change other states, I feel that there should be one nationwide standard. This would make it easy for every one and every car maker to comply.

I am sick and tired of hearing that Delaware is supposed to fall in behind California on almost every thing. Tell your leader to go back to California and stay there instead of trying to change Delaware to look like California. If he loves California so much, why did he move here in the first place or was he chased out of California?

We do not want him here and we sure do not need him.

Lets get real leadership at DNREC!!!!
